Note: Charlie Chaplin received awards in five separate categories, but never for one film. He has won awards as producer, writer, director, actor, and music. The most awards that Mr. Chaplin received for one film in separate categories were four awards, producer, director, writer, actor. He received them for the films “The Great Dictator”- ‘40 and “Mr. Verdoux”- ‘47. He won his award for music in 1952 with the movie “Limelight”. Woody Allen has received awards in four categories, but never for music.
